

SCRIMSHAW 1979

*Southeastern Massachusetts University
North Dartmouth, Massachusetts*

It has been said that the world is getting smaller every day. With every technological advancement, we can reach the different corners of the earth faster and easier . . .

This close proximity has heightened our awareness of ourselves, and those around us. National identities have become stronger, encouraging individuals to come forward. In our country, after years of incorporating newcomers into the system, it is suddenly "all right" to show our ethnic differences. On campus, is a new pride and a new aggressiveness.

During the past year, there has been a concerted effort to put the Yearbook organization in order. The responsibility of this task has fallen, for the most part, on the Senior Class officers: John (Oscar) Wehner, Doug Scott and Shirley Hemmer. They took on an immense responsibility when they began the selection process for the staff in the fall of '78. Without any experience they chose the staff that compiled the 1979 SCRIMSHAW. They did much more than this.

To ensure that future classes would inherit a firm yearbook organization; one that was professional and well run, they set up a set of guidelines by which the yearbook staff would perform its duties. For the first time in a long time the SCRIMSHAW staff had a direction and some pattern to follow.

Because of these and many more accomplishments, many of which have gone unnoticed by the University at large, we, the 1979 SCRIMSHAW staff, would like to dedicate this year's book to these three super people.

Thanks for everything!

DONALD E. WALKER UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

I have always been optimistic about the future, even when world and national matters looked far bleaker than they do now. But my optimism for you, for your future, and for what you will contribute when you leave here is greater than usual.

I think we are going through a period in which there is a special maturing of our democracy. A period when we appear to be regaining a sense of self-sufficiency, not in a romantic, pioneering sort of way, but in a very realistic and practical way. I sense this in such things as the trend towards the use of solar energy. A decade ago people looked more to the government and other large institutions to solve their problems. Now I think more people are saying, they're tired of waiting for someone else to solve their problems — they'll do it themselves.

That's healthy. I think it's at the heart of the way a good university community functions. I think it's the true substance that makes us strong as a group, when we really believe in the capacity of ourselves and our colleagues to solve those problems which confront us. And I think this has a lot to do with you, with this group of students who have been here for four years and are now leaving.

I don't expect you to remember a great deal of details of what you learned here, but I do expect you've learned how to learn. I think you now have a basic grasp of where the boundaries are and where you might push to bend them back a little. Those of you whom I have had the opportunity to know personally have been a source of inspiration to me for I did not come across this optimistic vision of the future by reading books. I came across it by listening to what you had to say and watching what you did. I was impressed. No, all wars have not been fought, nor all battles won, but you rekindle in me the feeling that we will meet successfully the challenges before us, and that is what really makes my task as president of SMU rewarding far beyond the traditional yardsticks with which we try to measure happiness and satisfaction.

REFLECTIONS:

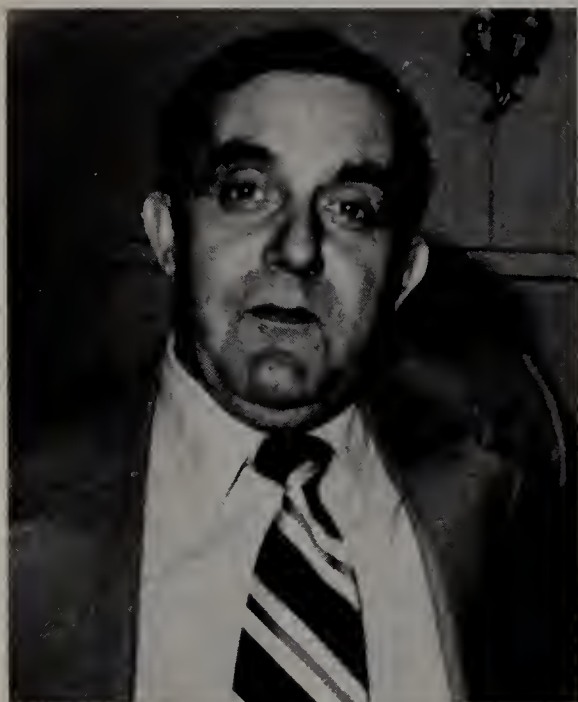

As graduates of the Class of 1979 you set forth on a new adventure in your ongoing voyage through life. You enter into your future, I suspect, with the same mixture of concern, uncertainty and hope, that many of us who have preceded you faced ours. Hopefully that future will contain for you much fulfillment and the joy that comes from fulfillment. But true and lasting fulfillment can only be realized as you grow in your understandings and insights, both about who you are and what life is about. Those understandings and insights come through a continual process of thinking out concepts and values that will form the foundation of a working philosophy by which your practice of life will be guided. In expressing a fond farewell to you may I share some thoughts from my own life's philosophy that could prove helpful as you search for your own.

To Truly Live

To truly live, I believe is to be aware that there is something larger than one's self. That despite our fall from Grace we are not "aimless atoms ambling to annihilation," rather we are the highest expression of God's creation, with a beginning in time that stretches to an infinity beyond time. And because we are, we have a duty, a responsibility to express in whatever we create, a reflection of our God bestowed virtue. To truly live is to recognize the fact that we neither live nor die unto ourselves, we are accountable not only to God in matters eternal, but are answerable to both mankind and God in matters temporal. Upon this recognition we discern still another, that of our obligation to bring into the lives of our fellow humans a full measure of love, dignity, respect for human worth, goodness and purity of purpose. Remembering always that such power as one possesses to shape the course of events, influence the lives of others, flows not from a life lived for self, which is a life of alienation, but from the strength of interpersonal relationships.

Such is the life that satisfies, for it goes beyond mere survival. The roots of human dealings are of the spirit, without which nothing profound in the way of influence can ever be generated. And the spirit is what comes from within. When a life of survival is compared to that of a life that satisfies, the comparison is obvious. The former you can meet every day by the score. Their numbers can be found among the human zombies of the world, the dull clods in whom no magnetism resides, and whose capacity to lift the human spirit or motivate a human action is nil. They can also be found amongst the brilliant, brittle or sophisticated types who populate so much of our urban society. But their characteristics are one and the same. They are self servers, and the selfish. The pleasure-for-the-moment seekers. Their interest is primarily in things and only in people when people can be used as objects to gain an end. They are indifferent to everyone's needs and feelings but their own. The sum of it all is that they are the selfish takers, not the givers in life.

Be a giver, but also realize that in giving there is a positive sense in which you must likewise be an unselfish taker, capable of receiving from others the flow of their commitment to you and the expression of their love and care for you. Without such natural give and take your capacity for healthy relationships becomes a parched and pinched experience, your life an unbalanced ledger.

MASS PIRG

One of the projects that the group sponsored this past year was the Book Exchange this past spring.

Krigman

Mass PIRG Invites Participation

Mass PIRG, the statewide consumer and environmental advocacy group, has an extremely active chapter at SMU. Governed by an eleven member local board, the organization has implemented projects and programs addressing many of the basic consumer and legal needs of its student membership such as the student Book Exchange and the Small Claims Court Advisory Service.

Students have investigated the quality and nutritional value of food served on campus and are undertaking a community-wide project which will check the quality of records and tapes sold at area stores.

Mass PIRG students are researching the efficiency of solar energy as an alternative to nuclear power and are conducting surveys on the hazards involved in the transportation of nuclear wastes. The organization has coordinated a paper recycling program between SMU and the Town of Dartmouth.

The SMU student local board has committed itself to increased quality in public higher education and has been lobbying for a fair budget for SMU and no tuition increases.

Mass PIRG invites participation. In fact any SMU student may come to the local board and suggest a research project or program within the realm of consumer, consumer legal or environmental affairs.

Mass PIRG, student-governed and student-financed, continues to challenge its student membership to become involved in its various programs. Students have continually proven that they can indeed make a difference if motivated and unified.

SMU VETS CLUB

Kass

The SMU Vets Club is an active and concerned organization on the University Campus. Its members are concerned with the needs of the club's membership, and also the University population as a whole. Among some of its services is an information and counselling program for veterans who are part of the SMU Community, and their dependents.

Besides being concerned and a worthwhile source of assistance and information, it is a group of people who enjoy a good time and share that with the whole University by sponsoring get-togethers such as the Club's annual "Boogie Bash."

SOURCE HOTLINE

SOURCE Hotline is consistently improving to help you. During the 78-79 academic year changes such as the expanding of hours and increasing number of staff members have made SOURCE's services more available to the community.

SOURCE Hotline is a crisis intervention and referral service. Our expertly trained para-professional staff gives the utmost attention and understanding possible, with confidentiality guaranteed.

To be in closer touch with the community, SOURCE set up a hot line phone system in New Bedford, Ma. in February. These improved facilities increase our capabilities to handle problems such as: Pregnancy, Rape, Birth Control, Depression, Suicide, Human Abuse, and Drug and Alcohol Abuse.

In our efforts to improve our qualifications and to make the community more aware of SOURCE, we attend various seminars, conventions, and participate in National Medical Week in the North Dartmouth Mall.

The reputation established by SOURCE's volunteers will continue to grow and to positively effect the community year after year. Many thanks and congratulations to the hard working volunteers of SOURCE Hotline.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS CLUB

The Industrial Relations Club has been active on the SMU Campus for the past 5 years. Most of the members are Industrial Relations majors at the University.

The group is an affiliate with ASPA. (American Society of Personnel Administration)

The organization offers the students of the Business Administration many opportunities to socialize with each other and to meet with people who are involved in personnel selection in many different businesses and industries throughout the area.

The club is under the direction of Dr. Donald C. Whetmore, who is the faculty advisor.

Monday Night Meetings

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate is the government of the student body. The members of this body are elected by popular election held during the academic year. Participation on the part of all members of the student body is highly encouraged for both the elections and for the meetings of the Student Senate during the year. The Monday night meetings are open to all to attend and to give their views on different subjects.

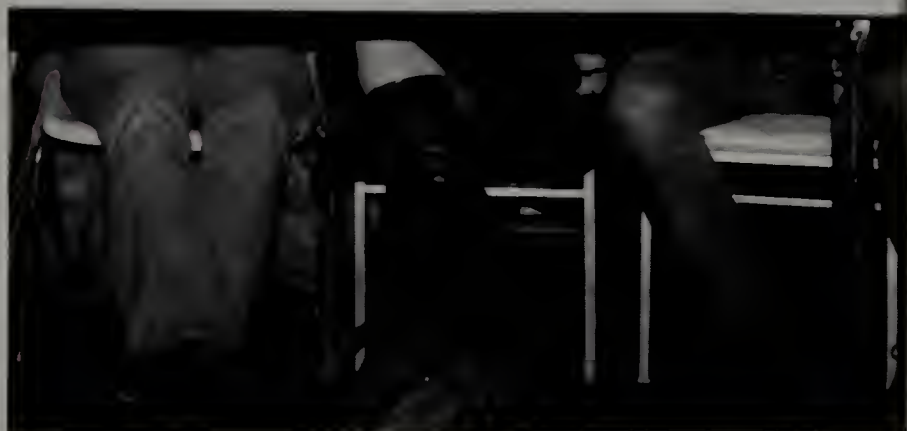

During the Fall of this past year the Student Senate made an effort to improve its communication power by participating in a type of encounter weekend. It was hoped that through the time spent in getting to know each other, there would be a strong basis for a working relationship between all the members of the Senate.

Among some of the duties of the Senate are the approval of new organizations on campus, and the establishment of committees and boards that deal with various issues and topics of pertinence to the SMU student. The Senate is also responsible for the distribution of Student funds to the different clubs and organizations that request moneys for their programs during the academic year.

The Student Senate is in fact a group of concerned students serving in an important capacity for the rest of the College community.

The SMU Riding Club commenced in November of 1978 with the intent of providing easily accessible information, literature and riding for all those students with any interest in horses or horsemanship.

Our weekly meetings were held to organize such activities as field trips, like the one we made to Racehorse Rehabilitation Farm, films and slides on horsecare, riding clinics, fox hunts and olympic training, scheduling of riding with our coach, Linda Allen and speakers such as Patty Sedden and Linda Allen on intercollegiate showing, local and national competition and horsemanship and importantly fund raising activities.

As a team an intercollegiate equestrian team we were very successful for newcomers to the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association. Out of three shows we managed to place reserve champion (second place) out of 26 competing colleges, and champion team (first place) out of 21 competing colleges. There were seven students competing, Catherine Heim, Ann Marie Zaleski, Paula Brault, Nancy Miller, Rose Hawkes, and James Lopes.

MARKETING CLUB

Kass

The Marketing Club is an organization comprised mainly of Marketing majors at the University. It is a social as well as an informative association.

One of the major activities sponsored by the club during this past year is the Spring Banquet held at the Campus Center. Here faculty and students joined together in an evening of conversation and relaxation.

The Cultural Wine Drinker's Association is a new and different club here at SMU. It was created by a group of students in the interest of preserving the arts and tradition associated with wine drinking. Many of these traditions date back to ancient Rome, in fact . . . and, in the interests of preserving culture and inebriation, the Cultural Wine Drinkers have been known to pursue topics of interest into the wee hours. The club has also taken field trips to the Taylor Wineries, Sackonett Vineyards and Nick's Tankard Pub. 1979 was a very good year for wine drinkers, and we would like to thank all that participated.

TEMPER

"I nearly lost my TEMPER. I grew TEMPER mental. I learned to TEMPER my enthusiasm with patience, and it happened. I wish I could say that handfuls of poets tore down my door and burdened me with manuscripts, but it was an effort to find poets. On the other hand, fiction was plentiful — in fact, it's amazing to me that students can find the time to write fiction. We had some nice artwork. In all, the book was well balanced.

It's discouraging to realize how few people know what TEMPER is. When I went to budget meetings, etc., I found out how low a profile we have. Yet, the magazine is read by people from other schools, and they have commented on the book. TEMPER is more than just a magazine however: It's a great experience to meet poets, writers, artists, and feel that you're helping them to be heard and seen. The attitudes and visions of writers and artists are an important reflection of the TEMPER of the times. I was happy to be able to help.

SMU CHORUS

The SMU Chorus, a small group under the direction of Dr. Robert Adams, brings a touch of class to the college community through their presentations of various styles of choral music to the listening public. It is a group of men and women who enjoy the sound that they make together.

CHESS CLUB

For those of you who enjoy a quiet, mind sharpening game of Chess, here's the club for you. These dedicated Chess buffs meet regularly to test their skill and finesse on other members. Although the club isn't large, the competition is strong. Even those who are new to the game are welcome to join. Plenty of advice and practice will be given to you. Perhaps a future Chess master is hiding right here on the campus of SMU.

POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

Kass

As an active group on campus, this group provides a service to the Community in terms of political awareness. Through their sponsorship of special guest speakers during the November elections, issues were brought to light and the students were made aware of political happenings and issues. Through their involvement and interest in politics and the political scene, these men and women have added a dimension to the University life that is unique and refreshing.

Krigman

WUSM is a student-owned and operated, ten watt, educational, stereo FM radio broadcasting facility.

The station is a highly professional organization that produces both entertainment and educational programming. Interests and tastes of practically everyone in the community are met by the weekly programming schedule of the radio station. Rock music is the primary fare that is aired, but other types are also heard on the airwaves at various times during the broadcasting week.

The requirements of the FCC are strictly adhered to by the station crew and management. The quality and diversity of the programming improves with each year. One of the major accomplishments this year has been that the radio station has become an ABC radio network affiliate. As such, the college community now enjoys the benefit of world and national news from the studios of ABC radio.

The future of the station is bright and the news, sports, music and small talk continue to be heard by all who turn to 90.5 on the FM dial.

WOMEN'S CENTER

The SMU Women's Center exists to meet the needs of the SMU women. The Center is in its eighth year of operation. The information and services provided reflect what is felt to be the current issues and concerns of women. Counseling and referral services are available. Activities have been organized that meet the needs and desires of students. The Women's Center provides support for individuals or groups with particular interests, issues, or programs they would like to discuss or plan. All services of the Women's Center are available to the entire SMU community.

The Christian Fellowship is a group of young men and women who join together to share their experiences in their relationship with Jesus Christ. They sponsor special speakers and events, to which the whole SMU community is invited to attend.

This year the group sponsored the appearance of the group "Joshua." They presented different skits concerning various topics and played music that complimented their program.

"The A.S.U. is a young, but growing organization, with a lot of energy. This year, we continued our "Expose Yourself" series, where faculty, as well as area artists showed slides of their work, and talked about their experiences in life. We also held a "Brugelfest" in the fall, and a "May Day" festival in the spring. Our union also had a part in the presentation of two Alumni panel discussions for the students, and have sponsored a few visiting lecturers. We have also taken on the task of beautifying the interior of the Art Building, and have financed a few aesthetic projects. I see the A.S.U. as an organization with a lot of potential, looking for bigger and better things in the years to come."

Charles D. Oyenuga, President

Kass

The A.S.M.E. is the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The student branch at SMU has many members from both the Mechanical Engineering and the Mechanical Engineering Technology majors on campus.

This year, the officers were: Charles Oyenuga, President, William Kiem, Vice-President, John Mantega, Treasurer, and Eileen Avilar, Secretary. The Faculty Advisor was Prof. Jo Hansberry. Numerous meetings were held, such as Student/Faculty socials, lectures on energy and related issues in Mechanical Engineering. Trips to the Regional A.S.M.E. meeting, held at the University of Maine, Orono, were organized. The A.S.M.E. Sectional Meeting was also attended at Western New England College. Industrial trips were also attended at the Bryton Power Plant.

The academic year ended with the annual Tune-Up Day held in May, and a gala celebration for graduating Seniors, members, and faculty.

HISTORY ASSOCIATION

The History Association, under the advisorship of Dr. Koot, brings together faculty and students who have an interest in the past and a curiosity concerning the events that effect the way we live today. The group sponsors guest speakers to the campus to discuss a wide variety of topics.

The group's meetings are times when people can share a common interest and various thoughts concerning different topics.

The final meeting of this past year was highlighted by a speaker from the Kennedy Library. He shared with the group some stories about President Kennedy, common misconceptions that are held today, and a brief description of some of the materials to be found at the Kennedy Library.

SKI CLUB

Being situated in New England, and having the benefit of many excellent ski areas within a relatively close proximity to the College there is great interest among students. Informal gatherings are organized and special trips are set up for the winter sport enthusiasts who enjoy the cold crisp mountain air of these various ski areas. This year, trips were planned for areas like Lake Placid, N.Y. and Franconia Notch, N.H.

STAGE BAND

The SMU Stage Band is a group of musicians who work together, have fun together, and give a great deal of pleasure to those who listen to them. Although small, they have a "Big Band" sound. Whatever the style or era, they execute the music in a way that would make anyone proud.

Concerts are given to the students and faculty at various times during the year in the Commuter Cafeteria. Concerts are also given to the public in the form of concerts given throughout the year.

Be it Disco or Swing, the SMU Stage Band is on the scene ready to play for all who will listen.

MASS SENATE OF STUDENT NURSES

Judith Keefe, President

MSSN-SMU is the university chapter of the Massachusetts Senate of Student Nurses. It is a professional organization for students which enables them to keep in touch with the ever-changing role of nursing. This chapter has been in existence for six years and has been to play a large role in the College of Nursing. It is also a service organization with functions serving students of the college and all of the SMU community. Under the guidance of the advisor, Elaine Hatch, this year's club has accomplished many projects. The health fair this spring, which was held outside of the auditorium, was well received by both students and faculty alike. The second annual job fair that was held in January, was the most successful of the projects sponsored by the organization this year. The club has also played an active role in setting up and running elections that established student participation on various committees of the College of Nursing.

Over in group VI is an exciting and stimulating area known as the SMU Gallery. It is an everchanging exhibition area where works of students, faculty, area artists and special guest artists are shown to the SMU Community and the area public.

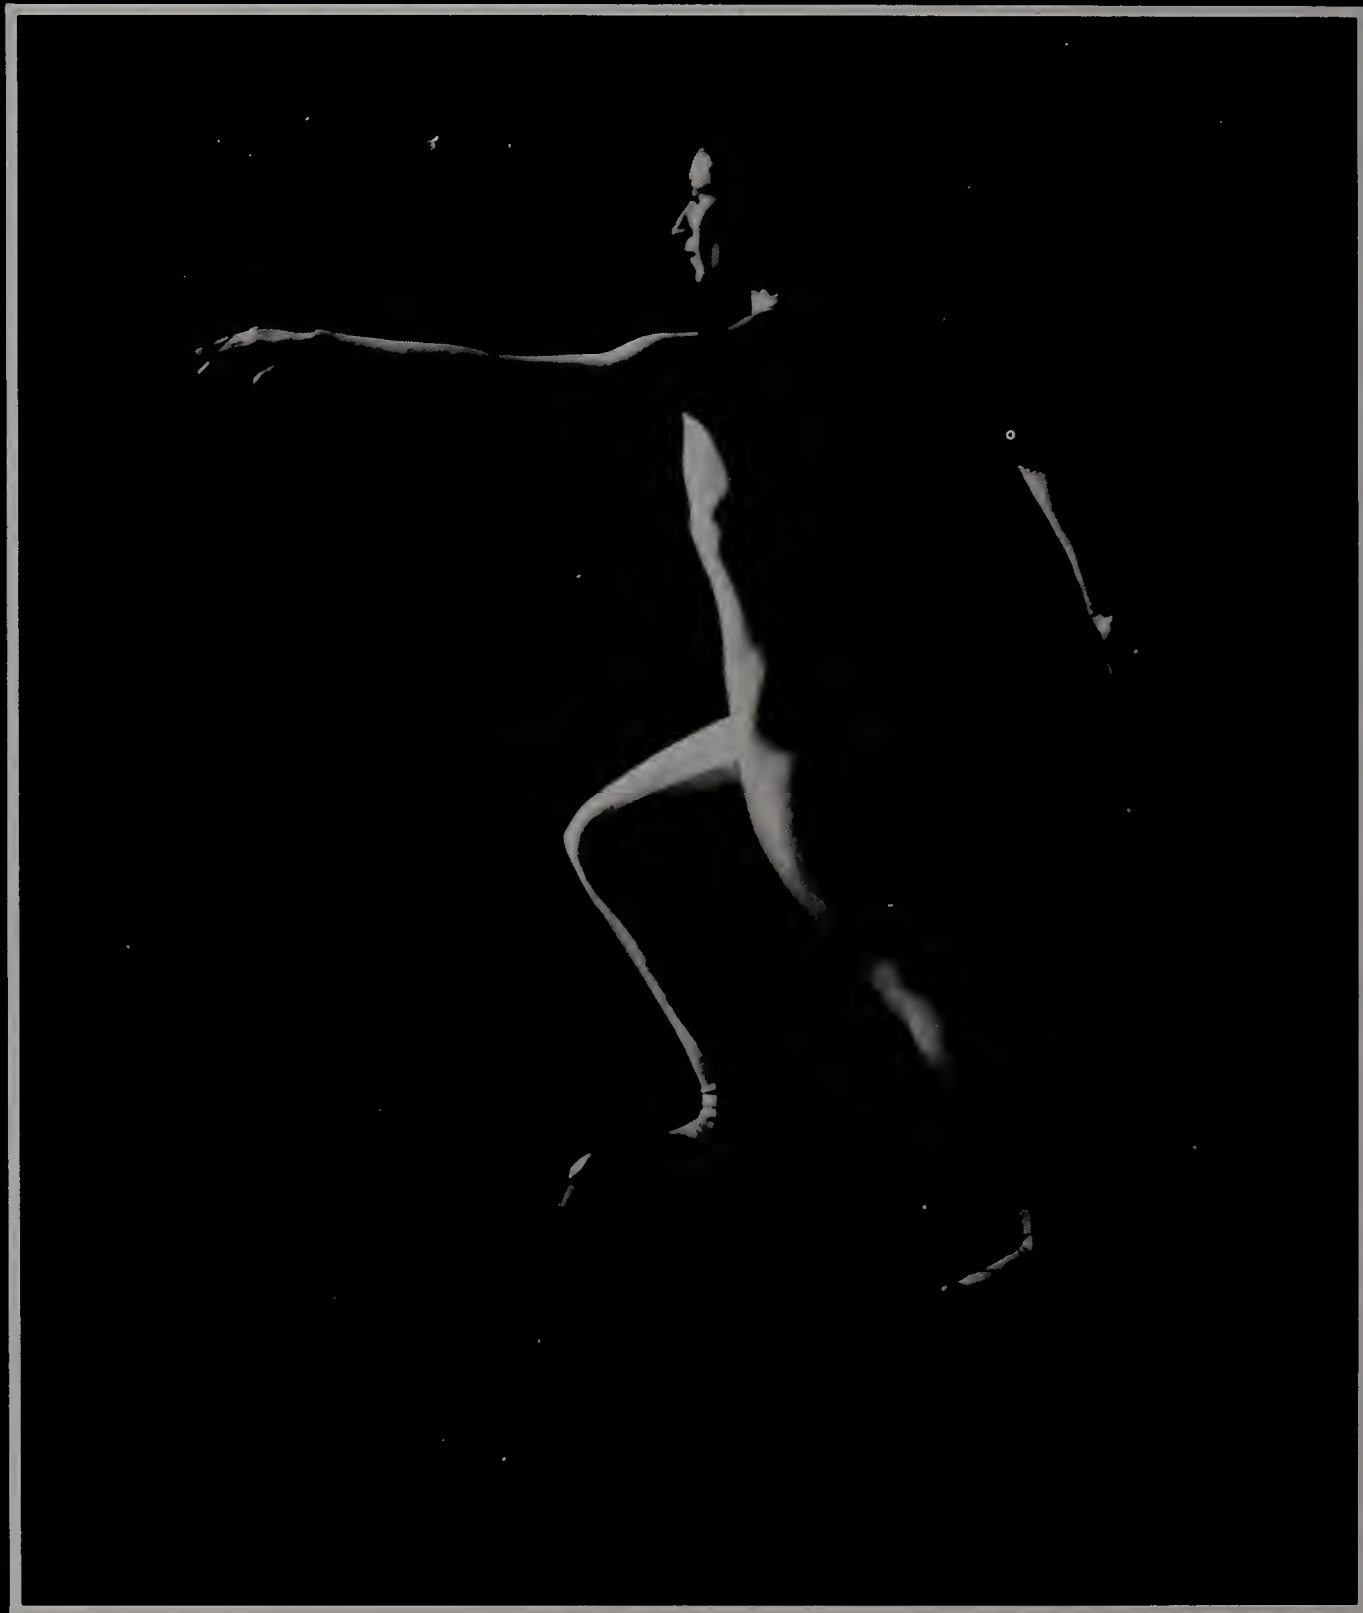

Since its opening last year, the Gallery has grown in popularity and is certain to grow in the future.

One of the closing exhibits of the past academic year was the Senior Exhibit. In this show, some of the best works done by Art Students were shared with the community.

A deep thanks goes to all who worked so hard in establishing the Gallery as it is today, those artists who share their talents with all on campus and those in the background who put hours into the success of each show through setting up exhibits, designing posters and making sure that all runs smoothly.

U.S. Representative Gerry Studds

In the Fall of 1978, our campus was touched by those from the world of politics. Candidates came to address the voting populous. Hands were shaken, and smiles were seen on the faces of Sen. Ed Brooke, Lt. Gov. Tom O'Neil, Congressman Gerry Studds, Sen. Paul Tsongas, and gubernatorial hopeful Frank Hatch.

The elections are over. Some of those who came to us lost. Others went on to victory. We have waited to see if promises made in the fall will be kept in the spring. We were wooed. We watched. We waited. We did nothing, and in some cases we were burned.

WE WAITED . . .

Perhaps this year's campaign has taught us all a good lesson. Apathy may not be harmful initially, but in the long run, it may be hazardous to the health, welfare and fiscal well-being of our various worlds.

AN END TO APATHY?

A Penny More . . ."

This was the one of many different chants heard on the SMU campus during the April 1979 Board of Trustees meeting. The chorus was composed of SMU students protesting the proposed tuition increase for the academic year 1979-80. Sentiments were high. Our rights (as well as our pocketbooks) were being threatened, and we didn't like it.

Krigman

Krigman

Student leaders Joe McKeown, Kevin O'Neil, Jayne Brady and Ed Haskill effectively headed the protest with chants aimed at raising the adrenaline level. They certainly worked. A multitude of concerned students flowed to the Trustees Board Room, to stand vigil while the voting took place. One by one, the trustees voted in our favor: no increases.

Although this victory was only the first round, it has shown us that there is truth to the saying, "A people united will never be defeated."

DRINK! . . .

To drink or not to drink was the dilemma facing all those between the age of 18 and 20 this past spring. There was legislation in the Massachusetts Legislature that would push the drinking age to 20, and possibly 21.

This change caused an uproar on campus. A concerned group traveled to Beacon Hill to plead their cause during an open hearing. Bradford Cheney and Dean Donald Howard spoke on behalf of those whose right to drink was being threatened.

The Governor claimed that it would prove to be a deterrent to the rapid rise in highway fatalities. Perhaps this will prove to be so, but this is yet to be seen.

Right now, the effects that can be seen on campus are: the Rat is much quieter, the Sunset Room is divided into the "haves" and the "have nots," and the dorms have "gone dry."

Perhaps the legislation was called for, perhaps not. It is difficult to say. Perhaps the change will be in the attitudes of those who quietly sat back until their little world was

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

Chris Hebert

With all seven of the runners that have travelled to the Division Three Nationals this past year returning, things couldn't be looking any better for the future of the Men's Cross Country team. Unless you consider the fact that four of those seven harriers were freshmen.

Brian Lockard from Salem High School, Keith Coughlin from Concord Carlisle, Ken Merrill from Dennis-Yarmouth and Jim Kent from Oliver Ames were the four that made such a big splash in Corsair Cross Country. All four under the twenty-five minutes on the SMU 5 mile course. Merrill and Lockard both went under 24:30 to destroy the old freshman standard. In the Nationals, Lockard was the fifth freshman to cross the line and Coughlin the ninth. Need we say more?

Yes! How about Dan MacAlpine, Kevin Childe and Matt Sukerforth; the three upperclassmen that helped their group turn into a strong and balanced enough squad to place second in the Eastern Championship. MacAlpine was an iron man all season, winning two dual meets and the SMU Invitational, and running the second fastest time ever run by a Corsair on the home course.

The Corsair Final record was 8-2, a fine mark indeed, but it doesn't tell nearly the whole story. The 19th place finish in the Nationals, the stunning second place finish in the Easterns, and the surprising win over a favored U.R.I. squad come closer to telling the whole story.

FIELD HOCKEY

Hebert

The women's Field Hockey team had a season that was a curious mixture of victory and defeat. The Corsairs finished the season with an overall record of 9-2-2. Yet the end of the season saw the women Corsairs passed up for a bid in the AIAW playoffs.

The season was highlighted by a strong finish (undefeated over the final five games) and strong play overall, all through the season. The Corsair's Mary McCarthy capped off an excellent four year career in SMU Field Hockey by scoring her 50th career goal — and then some. In one two game stretch, the senior sticker scored all five of the Corsairs' goals as they defeated Providence and Salem State by the scores of 3-0 and 2-1.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

The men's basketball team finished this season with a fine 14-9 record that earned them a spot in the ECAC playoffs. The Corsairs lost their opening round game to rival Bryant on a last minute basket. It was the second time in the season that Coach Bruce Wheeler's hoopsters lost to the Division II powerhouse by two points.

The season also featured a great second half comeback that saw the Corsairs win eight of their last ten games. After evening their record at 7-7 early in February, the Corsairs began their road to a winning season with a gutsy victory at home versus Bridgewater State. In that game the five starters (John Johannessen, Chris Huntley, Deene Jordan, Mike Robinson, and Mike Bobrowiecki) continued a balanced scoring attack with tenacious defense to give the Corsairs an 86-83 win.

Later in the season, the hoopsters defeated Framingham State, a supposedly superior team that went on to edge out the Corsairs for selection in the NCAA Division Three Playoffs. In post-season rankings, Framingham was ranked fourth and the Corsairs, fifth.

Overall, the Corsairs had a successful season and four of their five starters, including leading scorer Chris Huntley, will be returning. Co-Captain Mike Bobrowiecki is the lone graduating senior.

"I don't like to individualize. All of my players are important. Everyone has done a super job this season. Great defense may not show up in the stats, but it is what wins our games."

Judy Sullivan, Coach of Women's Basketball

So went the theme of this year's women's basketball squad. Teamwork, defense and some more teamwork. Sounds almost corny in this day of million dollar athletes, but for this squad it was the truth. A combination of freshmen and upperclassmen, this well balanced team finished the regular season with a 14-6 record — good enough to qualify them for the State Tournament, and then, despite a loss in the States, for the Regional Tournament as well.

After a first round loss to eventual Regional champ Sacred Heart, the Coraairs came back to defeat the number one seed, Worcester State in a consolation game.

Three seniors, Barbara Brush; leading scorer Mary Beth Hill, and assists leader Mary McCarthy will be graduating, but there is much talent to pick up where they left off. Sally Darlington will return with the team high of 39% from the floor average and leading rebounder Danette Jordan will be just a sophomore next year.

With just three seniors graduating from this year's 5-10-1 squad, the future of SMU soccer looks very good. After a somewhat shakey start the booters came back in a big way at the end of the season, topping Lowell, 1-0 and narrowly losing to a powerful Boston College by the same score. Their excellent play against BC, a game which they consistently beat the Eagles to the play, showed the class and determination the players of the squad always had.

Gone from this past year's squad are goalie Randy Sharrow, forward Chris DiCecca, and leading scorer Dale Peterson. Sharrow was a standout in the nets all season, consistently coming through with fine performances to anchor the booters' effort. Chris DiCecca, whose absence for a number of games hurt the Corsairs' offense, had, according to Coach Phil Fortin, "the strongest foot on the team."

Peterson, the offensive dynamo who figured in 90% of the Corsairs' goals, will probably be the one who will be the most sorely missed. An All American selection while at Massasoit Community College and an All New England player at SMU, Peterson ranks fourth on the all time scoring list for the Corsairs despite the fact that he only played two of his seasons in a Corsair uniform. Peterson is currently a member of the New England Tea Men soccer team.

ICE HOCKEY

The men's hockey team had one of their most successful seasons ever this past year, finishing the regular season with a 13-6 record and narrowly missing a berth in the ECAC Division III playoffs.

After a fine start, the Corsair icemen built their record to a respectable 9-4 record. But the Corsairs still needed to win their final six games to earn a playoff bid. The icemen were well on their way after defeating Clark, Curry, Nichols, and Fairfield. But two overtime losses on the final weekend of the season to powerful Assumption and New England's top Division III school, Westfield State, killed any chances that this young squad may have had for playoff selection.

Dan MacAlpine, a Torch reporter summed up the season this way, "But the team was more than goals, crunch and flash. It was hard work, hard work as in Bill McCarthy hustling, all 200 some odd pounds of him, back into the play to break up a pass with some nifty backchecking. It was Rich Silva shoving in the corners to dig the puck out.

Yet the team was more than that. It was put together with intangibles like courage, desire, and a curious inability to give up.

Guys it was a great season. Thanks."

June 3, 1979 marked the end and the beginning for the Class of '79. It ended four years of academic and social experiences in the hallowed halls of SMU. It also marked the beginning of new experiences and challenges in the world of employment. In short, "The SMU Experience" prepared us for our exodus into the real world.

SMU is a unique and fine institution which provides students with; the opportunity to develop themselves in their chosen field, a quality education at a modest price, and the chance to grow socially and learn to understand people and their problems. Gaining the ability to understand the problems of others can lead to a better future for this country.

Although SMU is a young university, it has gained substantial recognition due to the hard work and dedication of students, faculty, and administration. This dedication stems from the care and friendship exhibited by members of the SMU Community. These people have a sincere interest in the future of this institution; which was visible in: the takeover of the Campus Center, opposition to the rise in the drinking age, and the defiance of the tuition hike.

SMU has been a stepping stone for the Class of '79. We have gained the required knowledge and now we must move on and experience life in different surroundings. I am proud to have graduated with the Class of '79, and I will never forget the knowledge gained, the friends made. — the times known as "The SMU Experience!"

In Memoriam

PROF. FRANK GOLEN JR.

“On April 22, 1979, the University was stunned by the sudden death of one of its faculty, Professor Frank Golen, Jr.

Frank died at the age of 53. He came to the University in 1959 as an instructor in Business Administration at the then New Bedford Institute of Technology. As the young department of Business Administration grew, Frank grew with it. He was always an excellent teacher, but he became still better and grew in other directions as well. He founded the Lengo Realty Company and was its president. When the department was ready to add Real Estate to its curriculum, Frank was ready with one of the best and the most popular courses, and the large enrollment in this rigorous course attested to students' awareness of its excellence.

When the University received a $100,000.00 grant from Aid to Depressed Areas to study the Scallop and Flounder Industry, Frank was one of the five faculty members most heavily involved. The marketing report published as a result of that project was largely his work, and still contains many valuable ideas from which the industry can profit.

Frank's blending of the actual world with classroom theory was that fortunate blend for which any screening committee for Business Administration must constantly search. As he once remarked, what is going on in business gets into the textbooks five years later.

In spite of his very active business and professional life he found time because of his deep civic and religious commitment, to serve on the airport commission and as treasurer of his church and a member of the synod.

Frank had also a very strong sense of family and was devoted to his wife and children. During the past few months both his parents had died, and that loss affected him deeply.

He was a completely honest man with an excellent sense of humor.

Our loss is very great, and he can never be replaced.”

Prof. Matt Field

DR. ROBERT P. O'HARA

“For those of us who knew and loved Robert Paul O'Hara, the Spring of '79 was long, cold and lonely. The birds he loved so very much came back on schedule. Still beautiful. Still lyrical. Their notes now were piercing and poignant. They were in a sense a Requiem for a ceaseless seeker of Truth. At first, it was hard to grasp the fact Bob would not be coming back home — that he was already Home.”

Dr. John O'Neill

This publication has taken a great deal of time and effort to compile and bring into being. This year's book marks the beginning of a new era in Yearbook publications on this University Campus. For the first time in a number of years we, as an editorial staff, have worked as a team to turn out an annual that the whole University family might be proud of.

As editor I would like to thank many people for their hard work and hours of tireless effort. To my fellow editors I would like to say many thanks and "job well done." Nancy, Mike, Bryon, Peter and Randy made the job much easier and very rewarding. I had the chance to work with people who were good in their respective fields and great human beings. A special thanks goes to Arnie Lohmann of Taylor Publishing. His quiet but constant support and encouragement was, and always will be greatly appreciated by me and the rest of the staff. To the Senior Class officers: Oscar, Doug, and Shirley, I would like to say thanks! Their care and interest made the rough spots a great deal smoother. Dean Howard was a source of encouragement for me throughout the whole period of time that this publication was in the works. His experience with past publications and his knowledge of the ins and outs of this University opened many doors for all of us on the staff and made all of our jobs much easier. I could go on for many more pages listing the people who have helped us in compiling this book. I know that a simple thanks is very inadequate, but know that it comes from my heart and I shall never forget the many people who were concerned and interested in the final outcome of this publication.

I hope that the Class of '79 finds this book to be a worthwhile keepsake and record of their final year at SMU. As both Editor and a member of the Graduating Class of 1979 I am very happy with what we tried to do.

Thanks goes to each and every one of the members of this University family for making this year and the many new experiences as Editor of a Yearbook such a rewarding and growth producing experience.

Best of luck in the future!
